... through the eyes of a teacher: the 1962 Whirligig

GHS FIGURE known to all is Mr. Johnson — teacher, store manager, loyal fan.

DEDICATION...

He has seen our antics and frequently joined them. He knows us as well as he knows the palm of his hand. We have all known his jokes and his winning smile. Those of us that were his students perhaps will remember the lessons in life that we learned from him a lot longer than the physics he taught. What is his secret for success in life? He has never said, but it must be "Think young." To Mr. J. Stanley Johnson, who has seen so many of our years at Senior, we dedicate this 1962 Whirligig.

FORE WORD

... as the days fade into the memaries of a year, we remember the joys that accented the hours we spent and the sorrows that make them remain in our minds ... and, as we look toward the future, both add their experience to our dreams ... and throughout all our efforts, our teachers have remained our friends and supporters ... and as we glance back for a fleeting mament, we see aur year through the eyes of a teacher ...

September brings instant antics, kaleidoscope action...

CREATING an illusion is a favorite pursuit of students.

GRAPHIC proof of Roman ingenuity fascinates even students.

HE REMEMBERS his combinations like he remembers his axioms in algebra.

FROM SUCH LONG LINES one would think students really want to get into classes.

GABFESTS over lunch furnish food for gossip all afternoon.

As Summer almost imperceptibly turns to Fall, students warily approach another year of school, Sophomores, victims of the same old jokes, apply their talents to mastering locker combinations. Juniors gleefully pounce upon the fifth period — their chance to dash off-campus for lunch. Seniors harry Sophomores, patronize Juniors, challenge their teachers' "savoir faire." Normality prevails, however; classes and routines grow familiar. Then almost immediately comes the unsettling influence of football's perennial pageantry and rivalry.

brand new experiences - reactions crisp as Fall...

DAYDREAMS are out of place in this business-like language lab.

Antimm's splendor glows across the wide expanse of Senior's campus. Days are all too short for life's zooming pace. Field trips, the language lab, pep rallies and open houses, plays and concerts, the latest fads in dress and dance — all demand their share of individual attention and action. And as football season races toward the state finals, excitement prevails.

DIRT TO FILL 100 terrarinms makes quite a dent in our campus.

DOES HE LISTEN as intently to all of his teachers?

"Now, if I could promote animation like that in my physics class."

"WHIRLIES" is a magic word: it turns 6th period apathy into 7th period energy.

AS THOSE KIDS say, "Things are really jumping!"

EAGER AS THEY ARE to get that precious class ring, you'd think it was an engagement ring.

Winter teems with games,

"If only they would learn to study without being run down by a steamroller."

Crisp and definite impressions linger as each holiday brings its sparkling highlight. Even assignments, reports, and themes are bearable, as long as they are diluted well with the utter ecstacy of wearing that longed-for class ring, the electrifying excitement of basketball games, the moving performance of "The Other Wise Man" — even the unnerving sensation of being on a completely mad, skijump course, leading straight into the maelstrom of exams.

Suddenly the shock of Senior's thirty-yearold name being erased startles every loyal student and teacher. Tears, recriminations, plans, petitions — all prove that some traditions do matter to the young. Now even the almost epidemic "flu," the cancellation of Midwinters, and the holidays, courtesy the weather man, grow pale by comparison.

class rings, exams, a shock, unscheduled holidays...

WHAT POSSIBLE advantage can snow have? All we get from it is wet feet and holidays.

THE CHRISTMAS PAGEANT is one assembly program that every student takes seriously.

MAY DAY offers the perfect chance to dress up for an admiring andience.

Spring erupts in jubilant disregard for books . . .

A CURE for spring fever is a golf club and a fairway.

"The L.C.G. holds them to the ground and combined with centrifugal force . . ."

Then it's Spring, and Senior High's normal eruption of spring fever shows its usual symptoms — over-exuberance for all things social; chronic apathy for the necessary evils of class routines; acute "beachitis," which only Ocean Drive can alleviate; and, for teachers only, chagrin that everything else takes precedence over the pursuit of learning. To intensify the symptoms, open convertibles and sunshine, golf and baseball, spring holidays, new clothes, and wonderful, thrilling May Day do their distracting damage to notquite disciplined minds. After all, books will still be around when these glorious days of frolic and merriment have passed.

TOP STATUS SYMBOL is a white convertible.

EVEN IF SPRING is still around the corner, a bench in the sun shouldn't go to waste.

It's too late now... whatever they haven't been able to teach reluctant scholars, teachers might as well forget. Whirligigs have arrived and absolutely must have everyone's autograph and well-considered sentiments to complement the deficient copy. This school they have known and loved will soon be a memory; already the uncertain future looms menacingly ahead. In smoking areas, on secluded benches, in endless lines of capped and gowned seniors, words bounce from past to future—and always back to Senior High.

THE GROVE isn't exactly a luxurious smoking lounge.

"The way she's loaded down, she probably will bust."

WHIRLIGIGS should have 50 pages of copy and 200 autograph pages.

Summer nears, days race downhill—to graduation

STRAIGHT LINES don't lend themselves to last-minute chats.

Minds cannot be idle, for to the young life is an adventure paradoxical, exhibitanting, fresh. Each day is a learning experience; in classrooms seething ideas erupt and crystalize; dormant intellects rouse to the challenge of life. Teachers are guides, directing, prodding, never limiting. As they train minds, the intangible qualities which comprise personality develop, mature, and strengthen.

ACADEMICS

Literary scopes broaden, writing skills improve

OPPORTUNITIES for research and study are absorbing to ambitious students.

The seventeen English teachers of GHS urged students to strive for flawless appreciation of good literature and creative thinking, as they worked for mastery of our complex, yet fascinating language.

Sophomores entering English classes found a baffling world of themes, unfamiliar grammar rules, Silas Marner, and Julius Caesar. Quoting Shakespeare and Tennyson, they explored short narratives, epics, idylls, plays, poetry, and humor.

Juniors tested their talents by writing conceits, poems, and, in the spring, short stories. With their aim the achievement of more extensive and comprehensive vocabularies, Juniors perused novels and essays by American authors, surveying the changes in our country's literature from Washington Irving to Robert Frost, from Nathaniel Hawthorne to Ernest Hemingway.

Seniors delved into England's romantic literary background and discovered the delightful language and humor of Chaucer. One section of hard working seniors knew the pleasant challenge of Miss Joyner's accelerated class and found themselves making impromptu talks and writing themes on thought-provoking topics. "Academically talented" classes of Miss Mims and Miss Nicholson slaved over research papers and worried about how many of the required books they had to read. Every senior sifted through a lifetime accumulation of information and experience for his autobiography, savoring the thrill of recalling events in his earlier life.

In science and mathematics students explore

A STATE OF THE STA

"To draw a perfect circle you just . . ."

REALISTIC models of human organs fascinate advanced biology students.

GHS students kept up with the progressive pace in science this year by an increase in the number of science classes, teachers, and equipment. Upon arriving at Senior High, sophomores were introduced to the science department with a year of biology, while juniors and seniors who had acquired a real interest in science moved on to advanced biology, chemistry, and physics. Advanced biology students could easily be recognized by the portable gardens they carried to every class. Chemistry and physics students seemed to wear an expression of wonder and amazement whenever they felt that a mysterious "unknown" or a baffling problem had been solved.

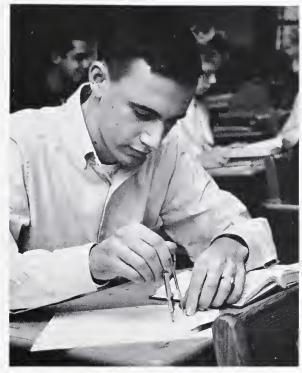

EXPERIMENTS verify chemical properties of elements.

infinite worlds of nature and computation

Opening wide avenues of learning to many students, mathematics teachers introduced new concepts in every level of computation. Geometry students saw into the wonders of planes and solids; algebra classes delved into the mysteries of equations, radicals, exponents, and graphs; and in trigonometry the complexities of the triangle proved a formidable but intriguing challenge.

Seventeen selected students completed the third year of a course in modern algebra and geometry. This year for the first time the second semester of algebra in the spring was followed in the fall by geometry, rather than by Algebra 3. This program was planned to provide a stronger background for further work in the field of mathematics.

COMPASS and concentration clarify geometric problems.

Conversing in French or Spanish or translating Caesar and Cicero, over three-fourths of the students at GHS furthered their study of foreign languages. With a language, they learned about a country's culture and history and discovered its contributions to the worlds of art, music, literature, and philosophy. Soon the development and derivation of our own language from foreign tongues became evident, and students realized the logic of mastering the Romance languages.

The laboratory, only a year old, was in constant use, providing a means for students to compare their pronunciation and intonation with that of a native speaker. The teachers, too, valued the lab, for they heard the students' individual mistakes and gave each person more special attention.

MASTERY of foreign languages comes through imitation of native speakers in modern language laboratory.

CURRENT ARTICLES are read avidly by international affairs class on weekly trip to library.

NEW TECHNIQUES in teaching are popular among world history students.

Wide reading stimulates History class discussions

KEEPING up with current news is easy with student panels and weekly periodicals.

Linking the events of the past with current happenings, classes in American history reviewed the growth of our nation's democracy and kept abreast of daily developments — history being made by the minute. World history students dug deeper into the civilizations of the ancients, but they were just as fascinated by the first orbited astronaut and the efforts of the UN in Africa. Advanced courses gave interested students a chance to delve deeper into the purposes and more subtle developments of government and international relations.

TV courses continued to be popular with students who wanted to become better listeners and note-takers. While geography and economics courses rounded out the history program and met other varied interests.

In Home Ec classes students prepare for tomorrow

Future homemakers added the savor of foreign spices this year when they prepared and served exotic dishes to the Spanish Honor Society. Also in class they served each other truly international dishes, ranging from Italian lasagna to Hawaiian poi. They gave a banquet for over 100 FTA members, which confirmed their enlinary prowess.

When they weren't cooking, the girls saw demonstrations of furniture refinishing, or they sewed practical but stylish garments. In Child Care classes they learned directly how to deal successfully with small children. In Family Life they learned facts about and discussed seriously many different problems of modern marriages — not just the more serious ones, but even the buying of diamonds and the choosing of a suitable honeymoon spot. Finally they held a mock wedding, for graphic study at close range of what many of them were vitally interested in.

RECIPES from Italy to Hawaii enable girls to serve a truly international luncheon to teacher and classmates.

FUTURE HOMEMAKERS look ahead as they work with nursery children and learn how to choose decorator fabries.

PRACTICE in clerical work prepares students for future vocations.

Commercial courses contribute profitable skills

STUDENTS learn and practice basic typing skills for speed and accuracy.

To prepare students for good jobs in business. the Commercial Department offered instruction in numerous fields for earning a living. Girls pushing to take dictation just a little faster each day acquired valuable shorthand skills, while future secretaries developed dexterity, accuracy, and speed amid the clacking and dinging of typewriters. A would-be accountant struggled with the complexities of debits and credits across the hall from a class discovering the "do's" and "don't's" of running a business profitably. Molding and guiding students so they could cope with the problems tomorrow's businesses and commerce will bring was the important job of the teachers in this department.

Art and drafting classes produce prize-winners

MECHANICAL DRAWING requires flawless precision and keen concentration.

The presentation of six gold keys and the exhibition of several works in foreign countries highlighted 1961 for our art students. Miss Scarborough's band of creators started 1962 in festive fashion by hanging holiday mobiles from the classroom ceilings in the science and home economics buildings. Inspired by art appreciation talks in the spring, temperamental geniuses used their tempera and brushes, as well as looms and potter's wheels, to eclipse even 1961's prize-winning creations.

Looking from artists to artisans, we found that drafting classes had successfully coped with blunt pencils and loose T-squares again this year. Tony Riddle had discovered the reward of perfecting a skill by winning a $75 prize in an industrial auto competition.

Sawing and planing, polishing and sanding, the boys in the wood shop transformed an irregular hunk of timber into a finely molded article of furniture with the precise skill of cabinet makers. Starting the year as novices, they advanced through learning the correct ways to varnish, stain, and glue wood. The results were amazing—tables, bowls, or bookshelves, which they were proud to take home.

In the machine shop, too, progress was being made. There the boys learned to polish steel, to measure intricate machine parts with a depth micrometer, to recognize the components of different kinds of machinery, and to create and assemble useful tools. They also cut and ground fine edges in steel, gaining experience which could serve them well in jobs after graduation.

CULMINATION of hours of tedious and diligent work nears its completion.

Furnishing employees for thirty-five Greensboro firms in jobs ranging from retail selling to advertising, Distributive Education classes prepared students for their roles as working men and women in the world of industry. New members were welcomed at a Halloween party and open house for parents and soon afterward learned the important part distribution and marketing play in modern industry. Field trips to Lane's Laundry, Southern Bakery, Winn - Dixie. Guilford Dairy, Greensboro Daily News, Carter Fabrics, and Whiteoak brought them closer to the problems of marketing a product or service and getting it from the producer to the ultimate consumer.

Membership in the national DECA was a basic part of the course. From Senior's club Tommy Smith was elected Central District President and Libby Yarber, First State Historian. In March local delegates attended the two-day state convention in Durham. Colorful bulletin boards kept students informed of DE activities during the year.

AT BUR-MILL offices Sherry Fields holds a part-time clerical job.

From morning studies to afternoon occupations, students in Cooperative Office Practice classes kept up with dual schedules as they attended regular classes until noon, then left the campus for afternoon jobs downtown. Always they strove to uphold their motto, "A day's work for a day's pay," as they applied their energies to being dependable typists, secretaries, bookkeepers, and clerks.

Through classroom instruction and personal research, they learned much that would increase their efficiency and desirability as employees. They acquired better telephone manners and learned many new words that they would need in their jobs. They began to realize the importance of being on time and the necessity of staying healthy — major requirements in the world of business.

An activity that left a good feeling of being really useful was a project which, though it

Ranging from dental assistants to dry cleaners, the thirty-six students who took part in the Diversified Occupations program formed a special common bond with each other this year. Perhaps this "esprit de corps" was born of Mr. Alderman's enthusiasm, perhaps of the newly found independence which comes from the important responsibilities of accepting work away from school. Whatever its source, this D.O. spirit was responsible for the continually fresh, interested approach the members applied to their jobs, and for the fine reputation which they built among our city's businessmen.

BOB BROGDON works twenty hours a week as engineering assistant for Duke Power Company.

BETH KENNY is happy in her job as nurse's aide at Cone Memorial Hospital.

Of course, not all of the D.O. activities were laborious. Members found time for a Christmas party, with Mr. Routh as their special guest. To their hardworking coordinator, Mr. Alderman, they gave several neckties and a sweater. Their generosity also extended to the Children's Home, where they presented toys to orphans who would otherwise have had no Christmas gifts.

Although the D.O. students found that it was not easy to maintain a job in the afternoon, keep up with assignments, and attend school in the morning, they gained much from this vocational training which will make them successful and responsible citizens and reliable jobholders after graduation.

SUPERINTENDENT Philip J. Weaver meets the complex demands of a constantly growing school system.

This year brought several innovations to the Greensboro schools, some of which concerned Greensboro Senior High closely. The school board decided upon a site and secured land for a senior high school to be built in the southwestern part of Greensboro. Thus there was hope that our school would not collapse from the hundreds of students above its normal capacity that jam GHS in increasing numbers each year. Also, Dr. D. K. Talley came to our city system as supervisor of instruction in the secondary schools and, in his first year, guided the high school teachers far toward coordinating their aims and efforts for more successful teaching. Then student response to the board's decision to change the name of our school to Grimsley Senior High School proved that tradition plays a vital role in a powerful school spirit.

Under the direction of Mrs. Waldron, hospitality chairman, a reception to honor the teachers was held. Mr. and Mrs. Frick, youth recreation chairmen, worked to make open houses and other student parties enjoyable. Mrs. Sullivan. membership chairman, enrolled a very large membership. Mrs. Makely, parent education chairman, cooperated with other PTA's to plan a series of very informative and well-attended parent education meetings. PTSA achieved its standing as a 100% association on both local and state levels.

PTSA OFFICERS are Mrs. Harry D. Kellett, President; Mrs. II, B. Clements, Secretary; and (absent) Mrs. Roy Smith, Vice President; Mr. John Barney, Treasurer.

Mr. Routh is dynamic force behind GHS successes

PRINCIPAL A. P. ROUTH meets the numerous and varied demands of his office with definess from years of experience.

Once more, just as before Page Senior High was built, GHS bulged at every seam — a mammoth school that had again far outgrown its capacity. With burgeoning size came additional problems for Principal A. P. Routh to solve. He drew on his acumen and vast experience, to come up always with an answer to the need. There were 2,000 sophomores, juniors, and seniors to be herded into 55 rooms. Many problems that grew inevitably out of the size and complexities of our sprawling campus and numerous brildings demanded watchful eyes and diplomatic handling. Through his wellorganized staff, Mr. Routh managed to keep his fingers on the pulse of Senior High and thus evoke the maximum efficiency at every level.

Mr. Routh was GHS's most ardent and faithful fan. He was as evident at each concert and play as at every ball game. His presence and his influence were basic in every school success.

Faculty members are instructors, guides, and fans

As the GHS student body expanded to 2,000, the number of staff members grew apace. This year over 80 faculty members followed demanding schedules, succeeded in stepping up their methods of instruction wherever possible in response to demands of "quality education." Whatever the quality had been, they strove to give it a lift.

They continued to function also as a faculty club, with dues for wedding gifts, flowers for ailing colleagues, parties for new teachers and graduating seniors. They carried on their extra-curricular duties and were prominently in evidence at games, school programs, and frequent meetings.

With steady popularity and constantly growing stature as a trusted guide, Mr. Glenn, Assistant Principal, was everywhere, saying the right words, lifting the lowest morale, complementing Mr. Routh wherever he was needed.

"Extend the red carpet, the Sophomores have arrived!" Thus Sophomores invaded GHS with the attitude of "Step back, world. Here we are!" This lasted only until upperclassmen trampled our pride and derided our ideas. This was certainly a year for being bossed around — "You gotta do this," and "You gotta do that." We greenhorus would wander and wonder, biting our nails, Soon, however, we fell in line with upperclassmen. New friends, ball games, bull sessions, and dances showed us the brighter side of high school life. We also learned from the Juniors and Seniors the art of getting to class just as the bell was ringing.

Elation over Christmas holidays diminished as time for exams arrived. We struggled, slaved, missed sleep. Our eyes grew heavy and, alas, our minds, more feeble, but at least we had hope for the next semester. Refusing to be snowed under by the others, we trudged on undauntedly to achieve success in many ways. Being the largest Sophomore class ever to enter Greensboro Senior High, we sold more pencils for our class project, had more people running for school offices, joined more clubs, promoted more school spirit, and made louder protests when our school's name was changed. Our enthusiasm alone put us ahead of all the other classes. Enthusiasm was our chief mark of distinction. After attending our first pep rally and singing the "Alma Mater," we felt that at last we really belonged to Senior High.

All of us were deeply impressed with the Torchlight tapping in assembly. It seemed to inspire us to strive for the best and gave us a feeling of confidence as a class and hope for accomplishment together in our final two years at GHS.

Enthusiasm is the Sophomore mark of distinction

FUTURE GHS LEADERS encounter keen competition in sophomore class elections.

Junior year is challenge to industrious students

"A Sophomore no more!" was the gleeful cry of now poised and self-assured juniors. Then in almost no time we were in a maze of shortstories, math problems, history, preliminary college boards, and Merit Scholarship tests. The first class project was the play "A Case of Springtime." Over sixty juniors applied for parts in this play, and fifteen of the more talented were chosen for this amusing three-act comedy. The rest of us entered wholeheartedly into the production by serving on committees -tickets, publicity, scenery, properties, costumes, and make-up. Rehearsals were held under the direction of Miss Mozelle Causey, and on November 7 the play came to life before our eyes.

As the "Class-on-the-Go" we were now ready to present the Thanksgiving Assembly, sponsored annually by the Junior Class. The inspiring speaker was Superintendent Phillip J. Weaver. In the weeks that followed, an air of excitement foretold the coming class rings as a special Christmas present. Winter vacation passed much too quickly and Midwinter's Dance was a welcome relief for those of us who suffered from overstudying — otherwise known as cramming — for exams.

The months flew by as we studied hard, yet found time to devote to many outside activities. As the year drew to a close we reluctantly left behind our Junior ways and turned toward a promising Senior year.

JUNIOR PLAY CAST—Front role: Epperson, Bundy, Harris, Schuster, Second role: McKinney, Shadoin, Keesee, Spencer. Third row: Weaver, Lund, Advisor Causey, Smith, Andrew, Schneider. Cockman.

MARSHALS are directed by Ephland, Lambert, Bernard, Huske, McMahan, and Chief Marshal James.

Smiling and alert, the thirty-six Junior Marshals performed their duties with ease and efficiency. In spotless white dresses, neat suits, and characteristic blue and white sashes, they ushered spectators to their places, collected tickets, handed out programs, and gave assistance at all school functions. Highlight of the year's activities was the graduation exercises, which gave the Marshals a final opportunity to serve GHS as guides. As proud and expectant parents were ushered to their seats, and chief marshal Bill James led solemn seniors down the aisles to receive their diplomas, the Marshals were wistful, for this event cluminated their year of service to Greensboro Senior High.

ENTHUSIASM is the mark of juniors as they start school day.

AN APPLE for the teacher is offered by FTA on Teacher Appreciation Day.

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS are President Crumley, O'Brien, Walters, Kellett.

Class of '62 finds leading others a difficult task

Our senior year, which once seemed almost unattainable to us, finally became reality. At last we had become the confident and courageous seniors whom we had always envied; our sophomore and junior years were only memories. The football games, the open houses, and the chapel programs were only a few of the events at which we displayed our intense school spirit. Though the future may find us scattered, in our hearts we shall always be cheering our Whirlies on.

The announcements of the casting of the traditional Christmas pageant began, and the nearness of the Christmas season filled us with delight. Then before we knew it we were in the midst of exams, the thought of which was brightened only by the approaching Midwinter's Dance. Half of our senior year had already passed, and among the many students there was a general pandemonium as some realized the time left for college preparation was disappearing quickly.

The library became our second home as we visited it frequently while preparing our research papers or writing themes. The hardship of writing our autobiographies was brightened by the pleasant and bittersweet memories it enabled us to recall.

We took mincing steps as spring approached. Our twelfth year of school was nearly over. Class Day, the Senior Tea, and the Prom all signified the school year's end. With fluttery hearts and with tears in our eyes, we ended three meaningful years at GHS by receiving our diplomas and eagerly setting out to fulfill our goals in life.

Who among us is not touched by athletics' thrill? Our favorite is basketball or track, football or swimming, wrestling or tennis. but what we love is the clean competition, the race run for running's sake, the opportunity to show our strong school spirit. For whether playing, cheering, or warming a bleacher seat, every one of us is loyal.

In Cheerleaders vitality and enthusiasm abound

Our dauntless cheerleaders led the Whirlies on to many a victory, despite hoarse throats, colds, even a twisted ankle. Enthusiasm kept them going even in rain, mist, or chill of night. Whirlibird's antics heartened the erowd and kept good humor alive, though he lost his mask at a game with Durham. With "George," head cheerleader, and Varsity and J.V. cheerleaders setting an example of vivacious school spirit, the students invariably followed suit, filling Senior High's stadium and gym with the roar of frenzied yells.

"Program, program! Please buy a program!" pleaded Monogram Club salesmen at the games. Students rarely resisted their persuasive sales talk; many even bought two programs (one for confetti and one for the scrapbook). This program selling, one of the club's main activities during the year, was done in connection with the Athletic Association.

Proudly wearing the emblem of their achievements in sports — a white sweater bearing a bold blue "G" — varsity lettermen worked toward fellowship and good sportsmanship and helped coaches with their duties and problems. These monogram wearers were often seen transporting athletic equipment or running up and down the football field during games, carrying a first-down marker.

With the incentive to win a second consecutive State 4-A championship, the 1961 Whirlie football eleven reached unpredictable heights before finally faltering in the semifinals before a powerful team from Raleigh. Guided by veteran coach Bob Jamieson, the Whirlies swept to another Central 4-A Conference Championship and a brilliant regular season record of eight wins and two ties.

A talented foursome of quarterback Ralph Lowe, halfbacks Charlie Ephland and Tommy Fuller, and fullback Steve Davis sparked a potent offense that averaged nearly three touchdowns a game. Ephland, an All-State and All-Southern selection, led the team in rushing and in scoring, with 69 points. Lowe, also a masterful runner, passed with unerring accuracy, nearly half of his aerials going for TD's. Davis and Fuller gained much valuable yardage, together accounting for six touchdowns.

FULLBACK DAVIS breaks away for a long gain as Whirlies march goalward.

Two of the state's finest ends, Earl Strickland and All-Stater Bob Powell, led both the offensive and defensive lines, while together contributing seven touchdowns. They teamed with Dan Howe, Dan Hawks, Bill Apple, Cam Penfield, and Sherrill Newnam to form a hardblocking forward wall. Leonard Hayes, Jake Murray, Bones O'Briant, Lowe, Davis, and Newnam highlighted a superb defense, which yielded only 64 points in regular season play.

Following a 6-6 tie with Raleigh in the opening game, the Whirlies rolled over eight straight opponents, until held again to a tie in the regular season finale with Reynolds.

The injury-plagued Whirlies experienced no success in the playoff contest at Raleigh and therefore suffered their first loss in eighteen games.

The 1961 junior varsity football team proved itself to be one of the best in recent years. In seven games the little Whirlies won five and tied one while losing only to Winston-Salem Reynolds. The jayvees exhibited power both offensively and defensively, rolling up 127 points while holding six of seven opponents scoreless. Numerous individuals showed promise of future stardom with the Whirlie varsity.

Coach of the junior varsity was Mr. Bruce Morton, who began his first year at Senior after graduating from UNC. Mr. Morton was assisted by Coaches Frank Bondanella and John Gordy.

Scores of the junior varsity games were the following: Page, 28-0 and 26-0; Burlington, 27-0 and 19-0; High Point, 0-0; Reynolds, 6-26; and Gray 21-0.

Whirlie Basketball Team is third in state tournament

The Senior High Whirlie basketball team experienced a fine '61-'62 season, placing second in the Central Conference with a 11-3 record. Overall, the Whirlie cagers won 13 and lost 6.

Center Charlie Black, an all-state selection, led the team in scoring, averaging better than seventeen points a game. He also teamed with forward Bob Powell to form a powerful rebounding combination. Earl Strickland, the second leading scorer, and John Hedrick were steady performers at the guards. Others who contributed to the Whirlie success were Pat Moriarty. Allan Robinson, and Jerry Clark. Since Black was the only senior in the '61-'62 starting lineup, next year's experienced team should be a top contender for the Central 4-A title.

For the sixth straight year the Whirlies qualified for the state 4-A tournament, which is held in the Senior High gym. The Greensboro team toppled Wilson in the opening round but was defeated by Rocky Mount in the semifinals. In a consolation contest the following night. Senior High downed Burlington 70 to 59 in probably the best performance of the season.

If the success of the Junior Varsity basket-ball team is any indication of the Varsity's future, the Whirlies should have outstanding teams for at least the next two years. Coach McCall's team swept over 19 straight opponents for a sparkling undefeated season. Nearly all of their games were won by margins of fifteen points or more. The high scoring JV's were led by sophomores Bill Blackmon, Alex Cheek, and Bob Banks.

Supplementing the JV team was the JV "B" team, coached by John Gordy. The "B" team played a full season's schedule and lost only two contests.

Swimmers place third in East Carolina Invitational

COACH SAWYER and members of swimming team admire trophies of past GHS swimming victories.

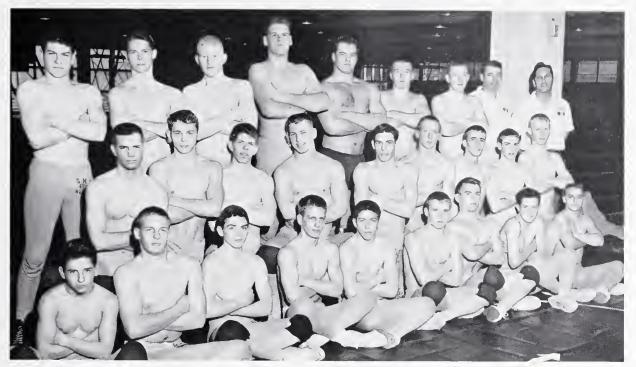

With a new coach guiding the 1962 GHS swimming team, success appears inevitable. Under Mr. Robert Sawyer the Greensboro swimmers have won one of two meets and placed third in the East Carolina Invitational, in which teams were represented from Virginia and the Carolinas. As the yearbook goes to press, the team is eagerly looking forward to the state meet and the Southern Invitational Meet at Chapel Hill.

The swimmers are led by team captain Jim Petty and Jim Freedman along with a host of talented seniors, juniors, and sophomores.

Wrestlers lead conference after early losses

As Whirligig goes to press, the 1962 Whirlie wrestling team is leading the conference with a record of two wins and a tie, while having lost only on loop match. The Whirlies also bowed in a non-conference contest to a strong team from Danville, Virginia.

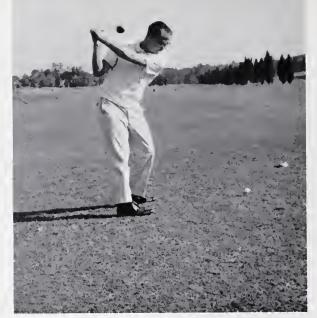

Following a tie with High Point to open the season, the GHS matmen dropped two consecutive matches. But improved with experience, the team was guided by Coach Manzi to victories over Lexington and Burlington.

Undefeated senior Jake Murray paces the '62 wrestlers. With the strength of other talented competitors, the Whirlies are capable of both conference and state honors.

An unpredictable golf team hit the state's golf courses during the 1961 spring season. The Whirlie golfers, young and inexperienced, were unable to win a match and placed last in the state meet; experience and continuous improvement, however, could produce a top-flight 1962 team. All but one of last year's performers have returned. Most promising for the 1962 season are seniors Sherwood Jessup and Paul Gardiner, and junior Joe Parks. Others to watch are Dan Howe, Bill Hudson, Sam West, and John Hedrick.

Increased student interest strengthens Tennis Team

"Inexperienced but promising" best describes Coach Bondanella's 1961 tennis team; its record of two wins and seven losses, however, does not indicate an unsuccessful season. Although victorious only in contests with High Point and Salisbury, the Whirlie netters were narrowly defeated in other matches. Excellent improvement was shown in the latter part of the season. Outstanding players were Doug Pickard, senior, and Frank Crothers, sophomore. Both played well in all matches. Other senior members of the '61 team were Allen McSween and Charles Thompson.

In addition to Crothers, returning lettermen Joe Hunt, Bob Groat, and Don Cunningham should provide extra strength for '62. With valuable experience and increased interest of students, the '62 season is promising.

Hard-hitting Whirlie Baseball Team again wins in Another successful season was completed by Coach Lewis McCall and his 1961 baseball team. The Whirlies, sweeping to their fourth straight Central 4-A Conference Championship, were unchallenged in loop action as they attained a spotless 8-0 record. Since the state playoffs were discontinued last year, the Whirlies were unable to compete for higher honors. Raleigh, a non-conference foe, was the only team to defeat the Senior High nine. The Caps outscored the Whirlies twice to slightly damage Senior's overall record.

The Whirlies left nothing to be desired in the hitting department. Catcher Dave Morgan, third baseman Dave Daniels, and first baseman Tommy Fuller each batted better than .350. Shortstop Harold Holyfield contributed many valuable extra-base hits. Right hander Ervin Byrd pitched brilliantly for the Whirlies, winning eight while losing only one. When necessary, Charles Ephland stepped in and pitched well in relief.

There was no weakness in the Whirlie lineup, all superior in fielding as well as batting. Outfielders Sonny Odom, Luke Medlin, Steve Davis, and Phil Shu played crrorless ball. Second baseman Bones O'Briant teamed with Daniels, Holyfield, Fuller, and Morgan to form an outstanding infield combination.

With the return of Holyfield, Fuller, O'Briant, Ephland, Davis, and promising reserves, the Whirlies should be a top contender in 1962 for another Central 4-A Conference title. Additional strength is expected from performers of the outstanding junior varsity team of the '61 season.

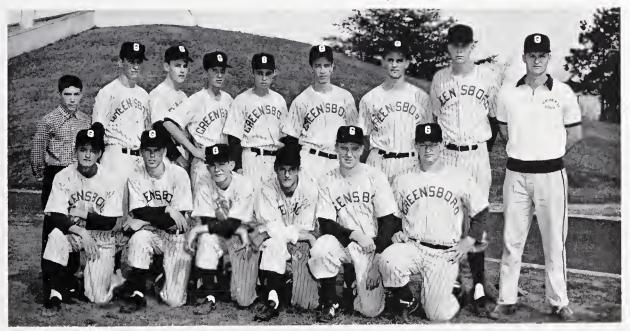

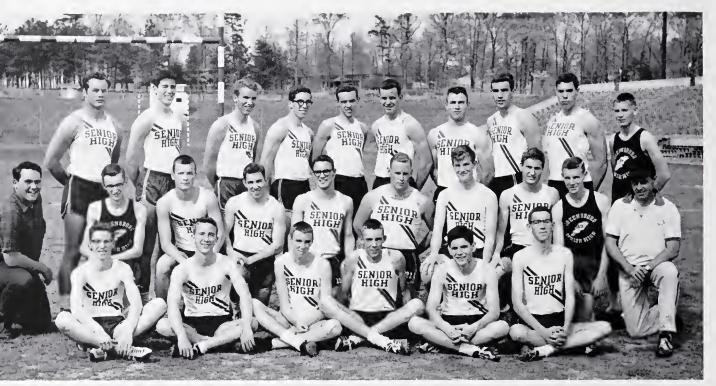

1962 PROSPECTS Peoples, Cobb, and Hawks pose with Coach McCall.

Trackmen are second in conference, third in section

The 1961 track team under Coach Claude Manzi compiled a successful tree-and-one record in meet competition, winning two triangular meets and placing second in another. The Whirlie trackmen, also prominent in other contests, placed second in the conference meet, first in the AAU Jr. Olympics, third in the sectional meet, and seventh in the state meet.

Speedy dashmen Alan Turner, Jim Von Cannon, and Mickey Andrews led the '61 team along with Mike Peake, discus thrower; Irvin Pearce, pole vaulter; and Bob Powell, outstanding high and broad jumper. With the return of Powell, Andrews, and other fine prospects, Coach Manzi looks with optimism toward the 1962 season.

BASKETBALL in Phys. Ed. classes keeps GHS girls in good shape.

For active GHS girls

Girls' sports at GHS is a comprehensive program which touches many facets of athletics during the year. With the coming of fall, speedball, the most energy-demanding game of the year, came into view. After Thanksgiving each girl practiced endlessly to develop her skills and contributions to the formation of a winning basketball team. Through the winter months, the basketball court resounded with the noise of dribbling and pounding tennis shoes in a game requiring quick thinking and instant reactions. At a playday for Junior High girls in November, the GAA members had a chance to apply their knowledge of rules and regulations by helping Mrs. Lambert officiate.

The spring brought a deluge of outdoor activities, each requiring a unique skill. From the keen individual vying demanded by track events, to the teamwork necessary for baseball and softball, to the equilibrium problem of bowling, each day in physical education brought the girls closer to physical fitness and mental alertness. They experienced the rigors of tennis, straining to execute a powerful serve or to slam a smashing retort into the opponent's court. The most important lesson learned was sportsmanship; when the game was over they jumped the net and shook hands, congratulating their opponents on a contest well played. Also they achieved control and better reflexes by learning golf. The year was climaxed with a day of sports in High Point, including high school girls from all over this district.

Student body activities bespeak this school's constant growth and diverging interest.

Clubs teach "followship" as well as leadership; music lends expression; publications entertain and inform; honor societies build integrity.

Personalities grow as each one finds a place. In a few years these activities will define friends, homes, children. From much that is sampled, good choices can be made.

On August 28 members of the Student Council met for a summer workshop at which they laid the foundation for the coming year's work. The first few days of school went smoothly with the assistance of council members at registration, at the Sophomore Orientation Assembly, and at a program to familiarize transfer students with Senior High. In late September the sophomore elections were well-planned and efficiently carried out. Ann Tate headed the council committee which made the annual Homecoming Queen's election a success. The state Student Council Congress, held October 20-23, was attended by GHS delegates

At Thanksgiving the eighteen janitors and maids who work to keep GHS neat were given baskets containing ten-pound turkeys and all the trimmings necessary for a holiday dinner. These were paid for by student donations in a council project.

The Council gave a copy of our school constitution to clarify the duties and rights of the Council. The representatives kept in touch with their constituents by council reports every two weeks and by suggestions from the box in the main hall. Before home football games, streamers were put on the cars in the parking lot by council members with an abundance of school spirit. The student body had an opportunity to give moral support to the football team by signing a "Good Luck" scroll taken to all the homerooms by council representatives. The Prom, the election of a May Queen, the presentation of May Day, and school elections are only a few of the projects on the long list of the Council's accomplishments.

YOUTH COUNCIL OFFICERS are Eisenband, Blair, Chairman Wilkins, and Massel.

Peculiar concoctions were swallowed, feet were frozen in tubs of ice, faces were shaved. and raw onions were gulped at the hectic initiation party for the new youth council members. The council, headed by Betty Wilkins and advisor Joanne Parker, planned open houses to be held after home football and basketball games. Each open house furnished a needed respite from the tedious schedule of studying. as students who attended the games flocked to the girls' gym for refreshments, dancing, and laments or glee over the outcome of the game. Sometimes the music for the nearly always jubilant Whirlie fans was provided by the latest records; more often it was the sound of a band or combo. A more formal open house was held to honor Queen Georgianna Sartin and her court after the homecoming game.

Handling a constant flow of books in and out of our well-equipped library provided ample work for the library council, headed by Miss Mildred Herring. Yet they also dated, shelved, mended, and cared generally for over 10,000 books, filed periodicals, located materials for students doing research, and kept track of the library's numerous and complete audio-visual aids. With characteristic "klunk-and-ping" a succession of efficient assistants punched the time clock each period for the stream of students from study halls.

Weekly staff meetings coordinated the council's work. A special treat was a Book Week dinner on November 14, with Mrs. Kathleen Pfaff as speaker.

The Northwestern district of NCHSLA met at Senior High in October. In the president's absence. Merry Matthes, district vice president, presided. Maurice Gulledge was elected district vice president for 1961-62.

All 35 GHS bus drivers attain record of safety

OFFICERS are Advisor Glenn, President Whitesell, Andrew, Williamson, Bullard.

Greensboro Senior High bus drivers performed each school day a truly noteworthy service. Transporting over 2,300 boisterous riders a month, each of 35 regular and substitute drivers safely carried their noisy passengers to and from grammar, junior high, and senior high schools, regardless of weather conditions. The four girls strove along with the boys to attain a record of safety and dependability. Even though some buses traveled over 1,000 miles a month, each driver took pride in keeping his highly visible orange conveyance gleaming and in top mechanical condition. Mr. Lody Glenn, their advisor, had reason to be proud of this squad.

"Trail Boss" Charles Bennett and his "drovers" did an excellent job handling the largest sophomore class and rambunctious juniors and seniors. As students stampeded along the sidewalks leading from the vocational and science buildings, these boys rescued countless scholars from being trampled. Their advisor, Mr. Whittemore, gave helpful advice to the 35 Seniors on how to keep over 1.850 students under control. Keeping the "down" and "up" stairs and the "in" and "out" doors impressed in the minds of the sophomores was indeed a task. An occasional stray wandered from the herd onto the greenfields of Senior, but much to his dismay, was inevitably rounded up by a watchful squad member.

Many industrious students

Striving to be useful, many GHS students filled myriads of requests around school. Relinquishing their study halls to perform their many duties, these students gave much of their time and energy to serve on one of several volunteer work groups at GHS.

Greeting visitors, typing reports, and running errands were only a few of the jobs done by the office helpers. They worked to assist Mr. Routh, Mrs. Coltrane, and Miss Moore, while next door in the Dean's office, Miss Wood's assistants were kept busy answering the school phones, checking on absences and tardies, and looking up schedules.

On Teacher Appreciation Day, every instructor was pleasantly surprised by the gift of a shiny red apple, and at city teachers' meetings, dependable FTA members were always on hand to help keep things running smoothly.

Productions challenge Playmasters' craftsmanship

OFFICERS of Playmasters are Farrow, President Johnson, Massel, and Bundy.

Although success in dramatics demands hard work behind the scenes, the Playmasters were not discouraged by the numerous tasks confronting them in play production. In fact, the theatre continued to hold an aura of enchantment for them; the more they worked, the more they loved the work they did. They found glamour in making props and costumes, adventure in learning the arts of lighting and make-up, and satisfaction in producing short plays they had written. They chose Austin's "Pride and Prejudice" for one of the major productions of the year. Presented on two oecasions -- once for the general public and again at a special afternoon showing for children — the play gave all participants pleasure and experience.

DIRECTING a play demands endless patience and ingenuity.

New members were inducted into the "club of players" all during the year, adding to the veteran group their own talents and learning from the varied abilities of the other members. Having earned one hundred points by entering speech contests, making scenery or posters, or selling tickets to plays, students joining the numbers of these drama enthusiasts did not take their membership lightly. The state Dramatics Contest held at UNC in the late spring again provided them with the opportunity to compete with some of the best talent in the state and to hear objective criticism of their efforts. They made a good showing, after Miss Causey's careful coaching and adamant insistence that they practice, practice, practice.

Whirligig reduces GHS to graphic black and white

When the staff returned after a carefree summer to the book that they had planned the preceding spring, deadlines held no special threat. Soon, however, they realized with what speed February 15 was approaching.

Ad salesmen, having only a month in which to sell, spent their time convincing businessmen what a good advertising medium a year-book can be. Margaret Cranford gave her crew frequent pep talks, and, after the selling was completed, worked hard to prepare the ad section for printing. Amid this financial rush, Steve Farrington was very busy totaling receipts and bills, balancing the books, keeping subscription lists accurately.

Meanwhile V-61 began to hum with sounds. mostly of activity. Phyllis Winston gave the initial assignments to her writers, who began TOP FOUR on Whirligig staff are Business Manager Farrington, Advertising Editor Cranford, Advisor Powell, and Editor Stansbury.

Johnny Bercaw, and their group mounted class portraits in record time, while the class editors kept busy counting, matching, and double-checking pictures and names to complete their sections.

Cheryl Jones saw that group and candid pictures were made; and, as more of the photographs arrived, both Angie Smith's work with the index and the job of the caption writers grew. Some tried desperately to compose something both witty and the right length, while others worked to identify the people in an endless number of group pictures. Dale Stansbury cropped pictures and worked on other details when the precious dummy was not being man-handled by inquisitive members of the staff.

As the end drew near, copy was checked, captions were finished and typed for space, and gradually the pile of material ready for the printers grew. Throughout the year Miss Powell used a seemingly endless store of knowledge and energy to aid the staff in having the book ready for Mr. Fleming and the inevitable February deadline, which now meant so much.

Quill and Scroll gives young writers incentive

For GHS's literary Honor Society, Quill and Scroll, this was an interesting and lively year. From the very first meeting it was clear that members were anxious to write and to discuss and criticize each other's work. Even the secretary's minutes had a creative touch. Several of the meetings were highlighted by guest speakers, who offered the benefit of their experience to the members.

Early in December the club, armed with large bars of almond chocolate, made war on complexions and diets of GHS students. Evidently these salesmen were victorious, for the candy sale produced funds to publish another very successful Homespun.

Since its beginning in the Spring of 1959, the History Honor Society has become an important part of GHS's well-rounded extra curricular program. Meetings, which were held every first and third Tuesday, brought to life interesting periods in past and current news. The group's mutual interest in historical events was stimulated by the probing questions of advisor Kathleen Pfaff, and many made this the first step of a probable lifelong interest in the field of sociology. On November 7 a panel discussion on Persia and Greece proved a learning experience for all who were present. Members themselves contributed much to the programs. For instance, Pete Bondanella and Jim Freedman presented an informative talk on philosophy, which was the result of many hours of research.

To raise their money this year the honor society proved their super-salesmanship in a profitable sale of Brunswick stew and barbecue. First they scouted about, taking orders; then on another afternoon they went in sociable groups to deliver the delectable goodies.

Meeting once each month at the home of a different member, the group participated in panel discussions on Spanish customs and culture, saw films, and heard a speaker who told of his three years in South America. In February, they especially enjoyed a lavish Spanish-style dinner, which was prepared and served by the girls taking home economics.

JCL stresses the importance of Roman heritage

The lure of ancient culture and language was strong for the members of the Junior Classical League. Appreciation of our heritage of laws, language, literature, and architecture from Roman times was a major point of the club's programs. The initiation of new members was impressive, with its candlelight ceremony and the singing of the JCL song. At Christmas the group sang their favorite carols in Latin. The April Roman Banquet was a playful replica of an authentic classic dinner, with upper class "patricians" reclining languidly while sophomore "slaves" scurried to do the serving. Even the "slaves" enjoyed it.

With three simple words, "Follow me, please," an entire new realm of learning is opened to the choice scholars. Each has found that the extra effort to understand his subjects and to add a little more to the class have manifested themselves a hundred-fold.

Torchlight had a successful year. The annual GHS Talent Show raised the money to give a worthy student a $200 scholarship. Delegates attended the state NHS convention and brought home with them ideas to improve Senior's chapter of NHS.

To get a clearer conception of some of their future duties, Medical Club members toured the new Wesley Long Hospital. Observing all the equipment and rooms impressed the members with the vital importance of a career in medicine.

Highlight of the year was an exciting trip to Duke for privileged senior members to witness an operation. There, spellbound by the intricacy of the scene, they completely forgot to faint.

These aspiring doctors, nurses, and technologists adopted the project of testing the eyes and ears of GHS students. When it was time to evaluate test results, the hearing tests proved that teachers were justified in declaring that many students don't always listen.

Proving themselves to be equally adapt as assistants and in scientific research, future scientists eagerly volunteered their services to doctors. Daring members were forced to use more caution after several were caught trying to repair broken slides with scotch tape and scraping vari-colored powders back into the right envelopes. Most of their chores were not very scientific, the members turning into lab sweepers and bottle washers. The menial tasks benefited the chib, as appreciative doctors made donations toward the scholarship given to a senior going into some phase of science. As a climax to the year the club sponsored the science fair, which many GHS students entered.

The Bible Club began another active and inspiring year with plans for varied and informative programs. Meetings were held twice a month on Tuesday nights, sometimes at the home of a member, often at the Mayfair Cafeteria. Panels, group discussions, and films formed the agenda which was highlighted by speakers representing different denominations in Greensboro and varied phases of church work. Among speakers have been Reverend Peter Robinson of St. Francis Episcopal Church and Mr. Moniek, a missionary to Africa.

On the weekend of October 6-8, three members of the local chapter and their Advisor. Mrs. Norma Barrett, attended the State Bible Club Retreat at Vade Meeum.

A major project of the club was providing Monday morning devotionals for the school over the P.A. system — a fitting way to transmit their purpose to the students of GHS.

Because they were especially interested in music and had talents to share with others, twenty-five high school students joined Euterpe-Symphonia. a junior offspring of the adult Euterpe Club of Greensboro. Since the club was composed of pianists, hornblowers, string players, and vocalists, the meetings were full of variety and interest. The high note of each meeting was the polished performance of one or several members in any musical vein they chose, each member doing at least one number a year.

A state convention in February and a special recital for senior club members in April were two of the valuable experiences shared and enjoyed by these musicians in a meaningful year of combined work and play.

Choir voices blend with Orchestra in December

OFFICERS — Seated: Hartman, Standing: President Sain, Sullivan, Keefer.

On August 31, 1961, as the bell signaled fourth period's beginning, the sixty-six members of the GHS choir took their seats in the music room and began immediately to work upon their repertoire for the coming year. Since most of the singers were new, the old members "turned to" to help the new in the gigantic task that lay before them. But if the faces had changed, the name and reputation of the Greensboro Senior High Choir had not; and as the weeks passed, it became apparent that this year's choir would be no exception in upholding the high standards set for them in previous years. "Tuttle" and "Meredith" were once again joined in their reign of M204 by Mr. John Barnes Chance, Ford Foundation composer, whose modern compositions presented the greatest challenge to the choir.

The choir's presence at school functions and civic clubs was in such demand that several invitations to sing had to be turned down. Even so, more than once the group performed twice in one day.

The annual choir-orchestra program on December 7 was, as usual, a great success. In respect to the day and the times, the choir performed with the orchestra "Era of Peace," an effective plea to the rulers of the world to cease their fighting.

In January the choir began preparing Mr. M. T. Cousins' "Sinai" and "Exodus" in hopes that his third movement would be ready for the choir-band concert on the first of March. They also began diligent work upon Mr. Chance's "Ballad and March," "Turandot," part of an opera by Puccini, and "Alleluia" by Dr. Melville for their March and April concerts. Choir members soon agreed BREATHING from the diaphragm is for the professional say Tuttle and Mercdith.

Glee Clubs strive for resonance and tone quality

For girls in Beginners' Glee Club, the road was often difficult as "Tuttle" taught the fundamentals of good singing. They learned to sightread and to support a good, full tone properly; also, of course, there was a mountainous pile of memory work to be done. Always they worked with a shining goal ahead of them — a place in the Choir.

Members of the Advanced Girls' Glee Club found that more of their time was spent just singing than on experimental work. Twice during the year, in the fall and in the spring, these girls provided the background "Ave Maria" for Torchlight tapping.

Working to develop their changing masculine voices, members of the Boys' Glee Club practiced every phase of singing from correct breathing to good posture to resonance and tone quality. They learned a little anatomy along with their musical course of study and discovered, through Miss Mercdith's and Miss Tuttle's instruction, the physical reasons behind correct vocalizing. These thirty-six basses, baritones, and tenors, joined the advanced chorus to compete in the State Contest in the spring. GHS is proud of the girls for the superior rating they won.

This year the GHS Orchestra gave two assembly programs. In addition they performed for the public in several night concerts. They gave a program in December with the Choir, then another evening concert in March and a concerto night in May. In April they were invited to play at Chapel Hill; and May brought the Piedmont Orchestra to Greensboro, with our Orchestra as host. At the Music Festival at Woman's College in April they received valuable criticism and high praise. Most thrilling event of the year was the choice of 32 members to play in the All-State Orchestra and Workshop. Dan Richman and Vera Leonard brought special honor to GHS by being given two top positions.

In September Mr. John Barnes Chance, Ford Foundation composer-in-residence, began his second year with the Greensboro schools. One of his newest compositions played by the band was "Symphony for Winds." an exciting work in a modern vein. By November the results of auditions for the Central District All-State Band were revealed, and 36 members—nearly half of the All-State group—were from GHS.

The concert band presented five programs during the year, two of which were given with the Choir. The training band worked with the concert band in achieving a reputation for fine quality of performance wherever they went. Students from both bands participated in the marching band, which gave very colorful half-time shows at football games.

OFFICERS are Gardiner, President Crumley, Turner, Brown, Reed, Carler.

Civinettes serve in both community and school

WASHING blackboards on Friday afternoon is real proof of Civinettes' desire to be useful.

Inspired by energetic president Vera Leonard, the Civinettes found great rewards in service both at school and in the community. On the first day of school they distributed pencils to welcome bewildered sophomores. Several weeks later, ten new members joined the ranks of these industrious girls. Constantly busy, the members made shakers, boosted school spirit with posters, planted hundreds of bulbs in their rose garden behind the auditorium, and helped needy children at Christmas.

Every Friday afternoon found the Civinettes diligently washing boards and dusting erasers. Annual fruitcake sales began in November and lasted until Christmas. Again this year, the Civinette-Faculty game proved not only hilarious, but financially successful as well.

ENTERPRISING Civinette distributes free shakers, which add color and zest to basketball games.

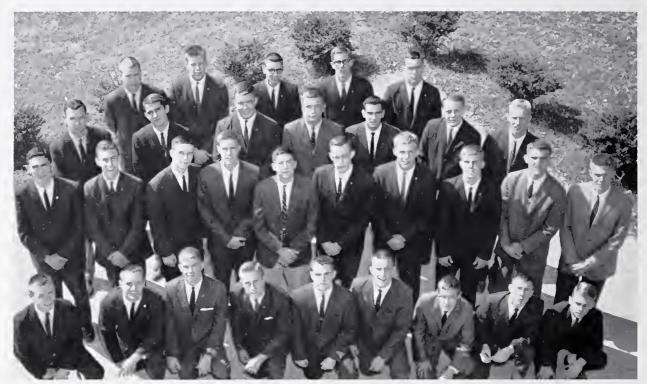

Civinettes deepened their understanding and gained much knowledge by visiting different churches in Greensboro with the Civitans one Sunday each month. Attending out-of-town conventions during the year also proved interesting and informative. The girls returned from meetings held in Gastonia and Asheboro with suggestions for better projects and more valuable services. Both meetings presented opportunities for exchanges of ideas and evaluation of the club's work.

CLOWN and generous participation are features of annual spring carnival held by Civincttes in girls' gym.

Junior Civitans build needed baseball dugouts

OFFICERS are Newnam, Ephland, James, President West, Bondanella, Good, and Best.

This year Junior Civitans completed their eighth year of service to their school and their community. Their services began early. On Orientation Day club members gave out handbooks compiled to enlighten bewildered sophomores, who used them not only as guides to classrooms and teachers, but to make GHS rules and traditions clear.

A few weeks after school started they distributed "Pocket Bulletin Boards" to every student. These wallet-sized cards earried football schedules and indicated which games were to be played at home and which were to be away. In January a new set of "Pocket Bulletin Boards" was distributed, providing basketball, swimming, and wrestling schedules.

DIRECTORY of teachers' names and room numbers is kept shining by thoughful club members.

As football season came into view. Civitan members donned bright red jackets and ushered at home games. Between escorting those with reserved seat tickets to their places and removing those without tickets from the reserved section, the boys were kept quite busy. During the sports season, the familiar Civitan Victory Flag proudly flaunted each Whirlie triumph.

To direct visitors and new students to teachers' rooms, the Civitan Club placed a teachers' roster in the main hall. It alphabetically lists faculty room numbers, and is kept up-to-date by club members.

CIVITAN MEMBERS look over handbook, which they present to all sophomores.

MEMBERS prepare to fly traditional Whirlie victory flag.

Another project was the construction of much-needed dugouts for the baseball team in the spring, using money raised from their annual fruitcake sale and from peddling candy at Christmastime. As a community service, club members joined the other clubs in the city to collect for the March of Dimes. The year was climaxed by a week-end convention in Asheville with Civitans from all over the state.

ack, Rudd, Henderson, Lambeth, Burwell, Robinson, Bennett. Third row: Fieg, P. Jones, Harville, Coble, Williams, Lund, Dnnn, Polk, B. Jones, Penfield, J. Barnes, Jensen.

Led by president Mike Lawrence, the Junior Jaycees made this year one of the most profitable and serviceable in the club's history. Moneymaking projects included selling light bulbs and Senior High decals, paper drives, car washes, and a bake sale. Putting their funds to good use, the boys replaced the Scholastic Bulletin Board in the main hall with an Athletic Bulletin Board. A major project was the new electronic scoreboard in the stadium, which was illuminated with spotlights and controlled from the press box.

WIHCH JAYCEE is the Whirlibird this time? Mystery enhances the popularity of this Whirlic mascot.

and infectious Whirlibird

To boost school spirit and arouse more interest in cheering at the games, the Jaycees challenged the other service clubs to make more noise than they did at athletic events. These drives were very successful, producing more fun as well as noise. Members took turns masquerading as the Whirlibird, the club's much-loved mascot for GHS. This exuberant mascot provided comical diversion at the games and pep rallies with his clowning antics, but cavorted straight into trouble when the head of his costume was torn off at the Durham game. Again this year the Junior Jaycees sponsored a "Name the Whirlibird" contest, presenting a transistor radio to the winner.

As in years past, on Awards Day the club honored one of the school's outstanding athletes with the coveted Roger Hobbs Memorial Trophy and also awarded a three hundred dollar scholarship to a deserving Senior.

OFFICERS of Jr. Jaycees are Tontz, Penfield, President Lawrence, Jones, Williams, Keller, and Harville.

KEY CLUB bulletin board informs students as well as general public of current GHS activities.

MEMBERS prepare to issue sports programs free of charge at basketball game. The Key Club, oldest service club at GHS, varied its projects as the seasons of the year progressed. As the seasons changed, so did the role the club played in serving the school. In the fall, the club compiled and distributed the ever-useful student directory to every student and teacher. The Directory provided all student and faculty home addresses, phone numbers, and homerooms. At the beginning of football season, the club gave out brochures containing the players' vital statistics and showing scenes of Whirlie grid action. At the half of each football game, the club graciously supplied members of both teams with oranges. After each home game, they became janitors and cleaned up debris left in the stadium by spectators.

At the north end of the stadium, the Key Club placed flagpoles displaying the school colors of Senior's athletic foes, with a spotlight at the base of each pole for illumination at the games.

As different sports were spotlighted on Senior's far-reaching athletic stage, the club furnished the student body with basketball, brochures indispensable

wrestling, and swimming brochures giving pertinent information concerning members of these teams.

During basketball season the members distributed to the spectators at home games free programs, which listed the roster of both the Whirlie cage team and of their opponents. They also supplied both the home and visiting teams with oranges, as they had done during football season.

On Awards Day, the Key Club presented the Sandy Nininger Award to the student the members felt had worked to the best of his ability.

DeMolay presents needed floodlights to school

Busy DeMolays experienced a full schedule in 1961-62. A conclave in Charlotte and a dance at the Shrine Club in August, a hayride in the fall, helping two needy families at Thanksgiving, a Christmas party at the Masonic Home, door-to-door collection for the Crippled Children's Drive, state conventions in January and March, and a spring dance made the months pass rapidly in a flurry of pleasant activity. Doughnuts, waxed paper, and paper cups and plates were offered for sale by industrious DeMolays. With the money they purchased floodlights to illuminate the driveway and grounds behind the auditorium and donated posters for citywide advertisement of an ice hockey game given for crippled children's benefit.

OFFICERS are Hutton, Master Conneilor White, Sweetheart Springle, Bullard, Anderson.

New Senior Hi-Y initiates series of programs

OFFICERS are Kendrick, Owens, President Price, Smith, and Maddrey.

Another service club appeared this year, as the old Hi-Y Club dissolved, and a new one with service as its goal emerged. A Saturday afternoon carwash which brought in over $100 and a candy cane sale at Christmas supplied the club treasury with funds for service projects, while a guided tour of Guilford College made the members realize the closeness of higher education. During the year. Hi-Y distributed wallet-sized cards on clean speech, living, scholarship, and sportsmanship, and gave each student a handy 1962 calendar. The first annual Hi-Y Lecture, given for student assembly, featured Charlotte's Dr. Carlyle Marney, Mayor Schenck, and Mr. Raymond Hill.

SPARKLING Georgianna Sartin is crowned Homecoming Queen by student body president Dick Tontz.

In a festive half-time ceremony on October 20, the 1961 Homecoming Court was presented. True to tradition, last year's queen, Gloria Griffin, and Tommy Whiteside, president of the 1960-1961 student body, advanced first to open the ceremonies. The candidates were the epitome of Southern beauty as they waited in suspense to be introduced by emcee Ed Good. In the next few minutes one of them would be crowned a queen. Ed was infuriatingly slow in reading the decision: Libby McComb, runner-up, and Georgiauna Sartiu. Homecoming Queen. The cheers and applause of the crowd denoted the student body's approval of the new queen. Stepping then into waiting convertibles, the Queen and her attendants saluted their subjects in the stands and slowly were driven around the field. After the game the new monarch was presented with a charm bracelet at an open house in honor of her and the victorious team.

From the girl's gym came the throbbing beat of the Jettas Quartet, the Sixteens, or that favorite-of-favorites — the jukebox. Inside, fast motion was the key to dancing as comples did the gyrations of the Twist. In a gala mood, people socialized with friends, enjoyed refreshments, or admired the clever decorations adorning the gym. Girls and boys eagerly discussed the recent game, lamenting or raving, as the case might be. This was the scene of any one of Senior's open houses, held after home games.

The '61 Prom given by the Student Council in the spring had been more formal, but even in cocktail dresses the girls found themselves kicking off their shoes to do the Twist with their escorts. At the 1962 Midwinter's Dance music was by the Rivieras, and the theme was "Carousel," complete with carnival motif, balloons, and side shows.

DANCERS add a new "twist" to the 1961 Junior-Senior Prom.

HIGHLIGHT of traditional May Day is crowning of radiant Gloria Griffin by Tommy Whiteside.

To the sound of trumpets and Mr. Hazelman's jubilant musicians, the May Day festivities of 1961 were officially opened. Several hundred loyal subjects looked on as the Master of Ceremonies introduced the girls of the May Court and their escorts. The girls, wearing dresses of blue, pink, or yellow, and the queen in dazzling white, set the stage for the pageant of activities to follow. After the crowning of the Queen, the court performed a stately minuet on the velvety green lawn. Alice-in-Wonderland, portrayed by Carol Roberts, and her wild menagerie of friends—the Dormouse.

White Rabbit, and Mad Hatter—entertained Her Majesty, Gloria Griffin, and her Senior Maid of Honor, Martha McKee. The grassy stage was alive with dancers who filled the air with their merriment. From the dancing Cheshire cats to the card dancers, and to playful Tweedledum and Tweedledee, the players enacted their part in the pageant. There were even cavorting jesters, who kicked up their heels at the slighest provocation. After the traditional May Pole Dance, the recessional began and the Court made its regal exit.

SKIPPING feet and original costumes of May Pole dance bring another May Day to its colorful climax.

Nostalgic Class Day, gala reception, and serious

CLASS OF 1961 climaxes three glorious years on "GHS Island" with gala class day.

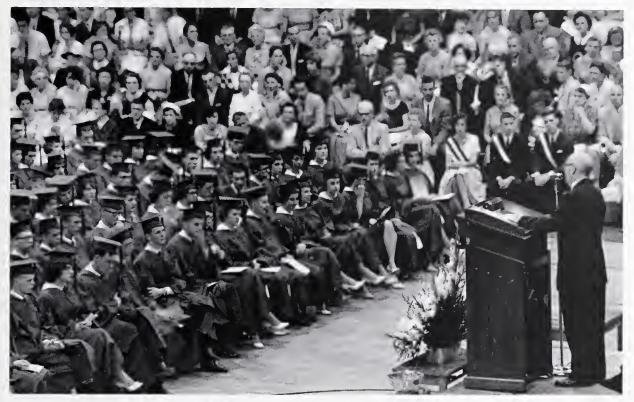

CLIMACTIC round of activities includes faculty tea for seniors at WC Alumnae House.

First in a series of commencement activities, some social and some serious, came the Senior Tea at Woman's College Alumnac House. Here on May 11, the faculty honored the 1961 graduating class amid an atmosphere of happy chatter. Class Day, with its mixture of funny episodes and nostalgic backward glances, whisked swiftly by as Seniors drew closer to the termination of three meaningful years.

Commencement Week was a happy-and-sad finale to twelve years of growth and varied experiences. Sunday, May 28, found the seniors at West Market Street Methodist Church for Dr. Charles Bowles' challenging and inspirational Baccalanreate sermon.

Graduation night arrived on June 2 — all too soon! Dr. Guy B. Phillips spoke briefly. but with wisdom, leaving the seniors much to think about. Finally the biggest reward was theirs — a cherished diploma, symbol of so much passport to so much more.

Now that Fre graduated, I wonder what college will take a sixty-year-old freshman.

GRADUATES experience serionsness, regret, triumph as realization of four-year dream is reached.

We wish to thank ...

Only those who are in some way connected with the production of a yearbook can realize the tremendous amount of work it represents. Many people have given unselfishly of their time and aid to make the 1962 Whirligig the publication that it is. To these people we now express our deep appreciation.

MR. FRANK FLEMING and MR. EARL POWELL of Washburn Printing Company deserve our thanks for the invaluable advice and help they so willingly gave us concerning the printing of our book. To MR. GORDON BRIGHTMAN, MR. RALPH VAN DYKE. and all the expert craftsmen at Jahn and Ollier Engraving Company who prepared our dummy and produced the same superior engravings for our book, we express our gratitude. We thank MR. CAROL MARTIN and MR. MALCOM MILLER of Martin's Studio for furnishing us with such excellent group and candid pictures. At Smith's Studio we say thank you to MR. FAY SMITH and his photographers for the efficiency and quality with which our class portraits were made. We wish to thank MR. JOHN CATHEY of the Greensboro Record and MR. ROY MATHERLY of the Greensboro Daily News for being so generous in supplying us with pictures for our sports section.

Many of our faculty have given much of their already-filled time to help us in publishing this yearbook. We wish to thank MRS. MARGARET HADDEN and MRS. KATHRYN McENTIRE for the use of their telephones and typewriters. For helping us by locating records and names and by writing checks for our many expenses, we express our gratitude to MISS IDA BELLE MOORE, MRS. JESSIE COLTRANE, and MISS ROWENA MONTAGUE. To teachers who aided immeasurably in collecting money for Whirligig sales and occasionally letting students out of homeroom for work on the book, we owe our appreciation.

To MR. A. P. ROUTH we are very grateful for the aid given us with our financial problems. Finally, we wish to express our sincerest and deepest thanks to MISS VIRGINIA POWELL, who gave more than generously of her time and effort to aid us in publishing this Whirligig.

To all these people who contributed in some way to make the 1962 Whirligig a book we hope you will be proud to own, we express our sincerest appreciation.

Dale and the Staff

MR. FLEMING and staff members discuss final details of 1962 Whirligig before it goes to press.
